Participants can get to the campaign site (www.cargomontag.com or www.wirsindgueter.de) via this TV commercial, via the presentation of the commercial on the YouTube video platform or by other means.

On the campaign site, participants must click on the "Play now" button. They will then be taken to the prize draw competition. There, the participants must correctly enter at least one brand that they noticed as being featured on the passing train in the TV commercial. Participants can enter as many brands as they wish. In the first three TV commercial a maximum of 16 brands are represented, and in the fourth TV commercial a maximum of 18 brands. For each brand that is entered correctly, participants will receive one prize draw ticket for the respective time slot (maximum 16 and respectively 18 prize draw tickets per time slot). The more brands correctly entered by each of the participants, the more tickets they will receive in the prize draw and the higher their chance of winning. After clicking on the button "Enter answer", participants are taken to the registration form where they must also enter their first and last name and e-mail address. This is mandatory information.

After the participant has agreed to the participation and data protection provisions by clicking on a checkbox, he/she must then click on the "Take part now" button at the end of the registration form in order to submit the registration form. By clicking on the button "Confirm E-Mail", the participant enters the competition. After sending the registration form, the participant has 60 minutes to confirm his/her e-mail address by clicking on this button. If the e-mail address is not confirmed until later, the participant can no longer be included in the prize draw and will not take part in the competition.
